System Requirements

The software is provided for use on one personal computer running the Microsoft Windows/7, Windows/8 or Windows/10 operating systems. The license is locked to the disk address of the computer.

A detailed list of supported environments is listed on the Petrosys web site www.petrosys.com.au under Support/Supported Environments.

Overview of Terms and Conditions

This is a summary of the terms and conditions associated with the Petrosys personal use educational license. A full set of terms and conditions will be provided with the software.

1. Petrosys accepts no responsibilities for errors in the software or for damages caused directly or indirectly by the use of the software.
2. The software is provided as a license to use for a limited period of time.
3. The software is provided for use by the licensed individual only.
4. The software must not be made accessible outside of the country in which it is licensed or the countries explicitly listed in this application without prior approval of Petrosys.
5. The software is provided solely for the purpose of training in the use of Petrosys software, surface modeling, and geomatics in general; and for academic research projects.
6. The software must not be used for comparisons with other applications or other forms of competitive evaluations; for paid consulting work or for commercial operations of any form; or for the control of moving vessels, vehicles or aircraft of any form.
7. Where a research project is sponsored by a commercial organization, reports and presentations to or with that organization that include content generated by Petrosys software should acknowledge Petrosys as having provided the software.
8. When a research project requires an extension of the license, a brief written summary of the use of the software in the project must be provided with the application for extension.
9. The licensee may call on Petrosys telephone and email support within reason and at 'stand by' priority levels.
10. The licensee agrees to accept from time to time marketing communications from Petrosys.
